DEATH OF HON. FRANK T. BROWN

Occurred Saturday Night at Midnight After Week's Illness with Pleuro Pneumonia—Distinct Loss Not Only to Norwich But to Entire State—Man of Marked Capabilities.

Although his condition has been serious for several days, and particularly so on Saturday, the death of Frank T. Brown, which occurred at his home in Perkins avenue shortly before midnight, was a shock to his wide circle of acquaintances not only in Norwich but throughout the state. Saturday afternoon his condition did not denote any improvement and there were grave fears for his recovery, although it was sincerely hoped that he would be able to pass the crisis. By his death in his 64th year Norwich loses without question its leading attorney, whose influence extended throughout New England, and he was recognized as one of the ablest lawyers hereabouts.

Frank Thurston Brown, born in Norwich Feb. 27, 1852, the son of Francis and Harriet Thurston Brown of East Great Plain. He was educated in the public schools and at the age of 11 entered the Free Academy. He graduated from there in 1868 at the head of his class. He entered Yale university at the age of 16 and graduated in the class of 1872. From 1872 to 1873 he was tutor in Latin, Greek and mathematics at the Free Academy, of which he was an alumnus, and thereafter took up law, having studied in the office of George Pratt, and later pursued the same in the office of Hovey & Thayer, the latter being Judge of the Superior court. He was admitted to the bar Dec. 22, 1878, and later formed a partnership with his brother, the late

HON. FRANK T. BROWN.

O. W. Brown, which continued until the death of the latter in October, 1895, since which time Mr. Brown had practiced alone.

In 1883 Mr. Brown was elected to represent the town of Norwich in the legislature and was appointed a member of the judicial committee, on which he was well fitted, and served with credit to the town and himself. Mr. Brown never sought political office, preferring that they should come to him, and he was always faithful to his trust, serving honorably and with the best of intentions. He was elected corporation counsel in 1891 by the common council, in which position he has been of valuable service to the city. He retained the office until 1898 and again in 1904 was elected to the position. In 1904 he was again elected to the office and held the position at the time of his death. By his long service in that position Mr. Brown was probably as well versed in the city charter and his advice was always to be relied upon, careful thought and justice characterizing his decisions.

CHILDREN'S CALENDAR

Given at Osgood Memorial and Greatly Enjoyed.

A pretty little entertainment for the children, called the Children's Calendar, was given in the Osgood Memorial on Saturday afternoon. The twelve holidays chosen—ones from each month of the year—were announced by Mrs. Ely and the children, illustrating each date nicely given by the children taking part. The programme included, Jan. 1st, a song by the Little New Year, Feb. 14th, a Valentine tableau and song; March 17th, The Wearing of the Green, sung by twelve girls and boys, with green sashes and shamrock; Robert Burns, July 4th, Yankee Doodle march by boys with drums, etc., several girls helping in the noise; Aug. 1st, a song of summertime by a group of children playing in the sand on the seashore; Sept. 1st, a recitation, September Days, by five little girls in costume; October 31st, a Halloween scene, eight girls trying Halloween tricks, a witch and three brownies; Nov. 25th, a Thanksgiving recitation by thirteen children in costume; Dec. 25th, scene of the night before Christmas, entrance of Santa Claus and his gifts to the two sleeping children.

The music for the songs was furnished by Mrs. Grosvenor Ely, piano, and the Academy orchestra—Alfred Brown, Robert Briggs, Robert Johnson, Humphrey Almy, mandolin; Frank Tobin, cello; Wentworth Prentice, violin. There were also several selections by Mrs. Ely and the orchestra given between the tableaux and adding greatly to the pleasure of the entertainment. The success of this was due to Mrs. William H. Allen and her associated committee, Mrs. Oliver L. Johnson, Miss Frances D. Young, Miss Amy L. Cogwell, Miss Elizabeth Pullen, Miss Elizabeth Tremblay, Frederick Symington and Mrs. Grosvenor Ely. Mrs. Anne E. Beckwith, Mrs. William A. Norton and Mrs. Frank M. Toot also gave valuable assistance. Mrs. Norton and Miss Alice W. Cogwell assisted in an explanation song and two readings for three of the tableaux. Candy and other articles were for sale at the close, Misses Lois Perkins, Marion Pullen and Natalie Adams having charge of the candy, and Miss Amelia Arnold of the grab-bag, assisted by Miss Louise C. Howe, Miss Nellie Loring, Mrs. Jay Taylor and Mrs. Hubert R. Norman.

DECISIONS HANDED DOWN

BY JUDGE WHEELER.

Salter Appeal Denied and Mrs. Heath Given Alimony.

On Saturday Judge Ralph Wheeler handed down a decision in the case of Salter vs. Heath, in which the commissioners denying Salter's appeal for reversal of the commissioners' decision. In giving his decision Judge Wheeler said that the commissioners had acted unreasonably or overstepped the limits of their powers.

The full memorandum of decision was handed down by Judge Wheeler to Clerk Parsons of the superior court for filing.

"The place is suitable for a license to a well established hotel, and two such hotels would not be too many in the locality," Judge Wheeler said, "and there appear to have found and held the applicant unsuitable to receive a license."

"The court, upon appeal, can and ought to set aside the acts of the commissioners for any unlawful conduct in the exercise of their powers, but otherwise it does not appear upon the trial that the commissioners acted unjustly or arbitrarily or unreasonably, or that their decision was beyond the limits of their powers."

"Upon the whole evidence before the court it is found that the applicant is an unsuitable person to be licensed. Judgment is rendered dismissing the appeal, with costs to be taxed in favor of the defendant."

The Heath non-support case, one of the most interesting actions of the term of the recent civil superior court session, has been decided by Judge Wheeler, who on Saturday filed a decision with Clerk Parsons in favor of the plaintiff. The case was Mrs. Bessie Heath vs. Charles H. Heath. Mrs. Heath sued Heath for alimony, claiming she had been brutally treated and almost starved while living with him as his wife.

The material issues are decided in favor of Mrs. Heath. Heath is ordered to pay his wife $20 a month, from the date she instituted suit, which was April 15, 1907, execution to issue monthly on the 15th of each month after the date of judgment, the payment of amount then unpaid. Heath is also ordered to pay the costs of his wife's action.

The defendant, Mr. Heath, is bound to plaintiff, Mrs. Heath, $2,000, sufficient salary to provide such judgment. Attorney A. A. Browning represented the plaintiff.

Middletown.—Rev. P. J. McGivney, pastor of St. Francis' church, is in New York and today (Saturday) will sail for Europe. Rev. James Walsh will be in charge of the church during the absence of Rev. Father McGivney.

MURPHY'S GREAT BATTING.

Philadelphia Fans Hand Him Hot Praise for Work in Opening Game.

Dan Murphy's terrific clouting of the ball in the first two games played by the Athletics has waked up the Philadelphia fans to the value of such a batter to a team. A Philadelphia paper delivered the following after the first game, in which Dan registered four hits out of five times up:

Danny Murphy has been one of the mainstays of the Athletics ever since he joined Connie Mack's team seven years ago. He is one of the best ball players the game has ever produced. When Murphy is not in the lineup the Athletics are greatly weakened. Men like Murphy, Collins and Baker, for instance, are a tower of strength to any team, who cannot well be spared even a single game during a season.

The small scores made by the Athletics in the exhibition games down south this spring were
